

Czechs Were Crushed Five Months After Munich Pact

Nuernberg, Dec. 5 (AP)—German air force records placed before the International Military Tribunal today disclosed that Hitler had made definite plans by 1938 to conquer at least seven neighboring countries, including Poland and Czechoslovakia.

British prosecutors at the trial of 20 top Nazi leaders accused of war crimes introduced a German air force document on plans for establishment of air bases in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia and Austria. The document was dated May 2, 1938—more than a year before World War II actually began.

Nuernberg, Dec. 5 (AP)—Hermann Goering shattered Czechoslovakia's last will to resist Hitler's war machine with the ultimatum that "half of Prague would lie in ruins from aerial bombardment within two hours," the international military tribunal was told today.

American prosecutors at the trial of Goering and 19 other Nazi leaders accused of war crimes laid before the court official German records and French and British diplomatic reports disclosing the Hitler pattern of threats, treachery and broken promises that crushed the Czechs only five months after the Munich pact led British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to proclaim "peace in our time."

In cold detail, the prosecution disclosed the ordeal of Czechoslovakian President Emil Hacha when he was imperiously summoned to Berlin the day before German troops marched across the border on March 14, 1939, and was told that Prague would be bombed if the Czechs fired on the Nazi invaders.

Bullied With Threat

Goering bullied Hacha with the bombing threat if he did not immediately "invite" German troops into his country, according to the report of French Ambassador Robert Coulondre read into the evidence.

The prosecution then read British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson's report that Goering in an interview later did not deny the threat but gave as his alibi that he intended only to unleash the Luftwaffe "if German lives were lost."

Under the pressure, German records showed, President Hacha finally gave in and the next morning the Germans poured over the border without opposition.

Hitler's seizure of Czechoslovakia was described as "pure international banditry" by Assistant U. S. Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman, who introduced documents showing how the Fuehrer called Czech and Slovak leaders to Berlin.

Reveal Horthy Plot

Hungary's part in the partition of the little country was shown by a letter to Hitler from Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, in which he told of plans to manufacture a "frontier incident" on March 16, 1939, as a pretext for the invasion of Ruthenia, one of the Czechoslovak provinces.

The day before the German troops poured across the Czech border, Hacha was called to Berlin to receive the ultimatum. Hitler told Hacha, German records introduced as evidence disclosed, that the army would move at 6 o'clock the next morning prepared to use "physical force." Hitler added:

"London and Paris were not in a position to really stand up for Czechoslovakia."

Hitler promised a "generous life, autonomy and a certain national liberty" for the Czechs and Hacha reluctantly broke down and agreed to "invite" the Germans to establish a protectorate, the records showed.

SALE OF BONDS IN EXCESS OF MILLION MARK

Adams county slashed a couple thousand dollars off its E bond quota deficit, skyrocketed its over-subscription of the bonds to individuals quota to $22,731.50 and slashed $122,805 off its $650,000 Corporate bond quota in the Victory Loan campaign.

Total sales of all types of bonds to countians mounted to $1,025,536.50 with three more days remaining for Corporate bond sales and the balance of the month left for E bond sales.

Another bright spot in the Victory loan picture today was the announcement that the Western Maryland Railway Company had made an allocation of $10,000 in series C bonds to Adams county. The announcement was contained in a letter to Charles W. Myers, local Western Maryland agent, from Bradley T. McCoy, treasurer of the company.

First announcement of Corporate bond sales was considered very encouraging and indications, according to a committee observer, point to an oversubscription before the close of the Corporate sale on Saturday. Only $527,195 worth of this type of bonds need to be sold to attain the quota.

The E bond quota is the big hurdle confronting the volunteer workers in the county. There is a deficit of $181,400 in this part of the campaign and every effort is being made to reach this goal.

Says Defeat Of Chiang Had Been Plotted

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley charged today that a career diplomat left in charge of the embassy at Chungking sought to "destroy" the Chinese nationalist government by getting lend-lease arms for the Chinese Communists.

He said the official was George Acheson, Jr., counselor at the Chungking embassy. Hurley added that the arms were not given the Communists, and that Acheson later was recalled from China.

Hurley testified the Acheson incident occurred after he had left China on a trip to Washington. He said Acheson wrote a letter to the secretary of state advocating furnishing lend-lease arms and equipment to the Communist forces, and claiming that he had the support of every official member of the American embassy in that recommendation.

Acheson is currently on duty for the State Department in Tokyo as a political adviser to General of the Army Douglas A. MacArthur.

Hurley testified earlier that a career diplomat assigned to Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell in China had proposed in October 1944 that the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek be allowed to collapse. The former ambassador to China told the Senate Foreign Relations committee that the diplomat was John S. Service. He said that he was unable to fire Service at the time the proposal was made because Service was under Stilwell, then the American commander in China.

BEGINNINGS OF ABBOTTSTOWN ARE RECOUNTED

Facts of the early history of Berwick Town (now Abbottstown) were recounted for members of the Adams County Historical society at their December meeting Tuesday evening at the court house by W. W. Eisenhart, retired schoolman now residing in that borough which was his boyhood home.

Referring to the "active support" his community always has given patriotic causes, Mr. Eisenhart reported that a public meeting was held in Berwick Town on April 13, 1775—five days before Paul Revere's ride—when the townspeople held "our feelings are for the people of Boston." They collected 16 pounds and two shillings and sent that sum to the oppressed people of that city.

Mr. Eisenhart said that Abbottstown cemeteries contain the graves of 15 Revolutionary war dead, one of the Mexican war, about 30 Civil War veterans, four of World War I and one of the last war.

Name Honorary Members

Before the program began Tuesday evening the society elected to honorary membership Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, chief archivist in the Department of Archives at Harrisburg; his assistant, Mrs. Leroy Daventport, also of Harrisburg; Dr. Albert Cook Myers of Moylan and Dr. S. K. Stevens, state historian.

Nominating and auditing committees were named by the president, Dr. Henry Stewart, and a number of accessions of historical material were acknowledged by society officers.

Mr. Eisenhart, who retired six years ago as the superintendent of schools at Tyone, Pa., traced the development of Abbottstown from the time John Abbott, an English Quaker, settled "on the banks of Beaver creek, county of York, province of Pennsylvania." Records show he secured a warrant for 506 acres of land in "Barwick" township, York county (now Adams) and that he had the town laid out in 1755 although its plan had been made five years earlier. It was named Berwick Town in honor of Abbott's native Berwick in England.

John Abbott willed his possessions to his three children but they did not prosper and the lands soon passed from the Abbott name, the speaker said.

Town Grew Slowly

The town's founder sold a number of lots at three pounds each with quit rents and gave land for the first church and burial ground. He is buried in the Old Dutch cemetery on Lot 72 in the town he founded. The date of his death was February 19, 1786.

Although the town was a stopover point on the Philadelphia-Pittsburgh turnpike and for farmers taking produce from the Cumberland valley to Baltimore, the town

DECRIES FEAR OF WAR WITH SOVIET UNION

Russia, according to Dr. Jerome Davis, educator, author, foreign correspondent and world traveler, is neither a heaven nor a hell, but somewhere in between—a people and a country very much like "the rest of us," he said in a talk Tuesday evening in the Sunday school rooms of St. James Lutheran church.

Dr. Davis and William Henry Chamberlain, author and lecturer, and former foreign correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, spoke in Gettysburg Tuesday under the sponsorship of the Adams County Ministerium, and through the co-operation of the American Friends service committee.

They addressed the student bodies of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran seminary in the morning, and meetings in St. James church in the afternoon and evening.

Dr. Davis described the progress made by Russia in the past 28 years, since the revolution, as "phenomenal," decrying any fear of a war between the United States and Russia, and said that the way to get along was "by recognizing that we are all human beings."

Right To Be Suspicious

Recommending that the United States and Britain set an example by keeping their word, Dr. Davis said he would like to see this country give a demonstration of justice in action.

"We must try to understand the other fellow's viewpoint," Dr. Davis added. "If Russia is hard to deal with, it is because it has a right to be suspicious from the record. They think that if somebody is going to the oppressed people of that city."

Military Court To Decide Yamashita's Fate Friday

Manila, Dec. 5 (AP)—A five-general U. S. Military commission recessed to ponder the fate of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita today after hearing final summations in which the prosecution demanded the death penalty and the defense pleaded for "American justice—acquittal."

It promised a verdict Friday.

Maj. Robert M. Kerr, Portland, Ore., chief prosecutor, declared that "in view of the aggravated nature of the crimes and in view of the measures of the crimes, we recommend that the sentence, if death, be carried out by hanging."

Kerr charged that "every reasonable doubt has been shattered by devastating witnesses" against the Japanese army commander, who is accused of condoning innumerable atrocities by his troops in the Philippines.

"There is no doubt of his responsibility and negligence," Kerr said, in asking a verdict of guilty and the death sentence.

RICE PARRIES QUESTIONS ON OFFICIAL POST

Col. John S. Rice, West Broadway, recently discharged from the Army Air Forces and former state senator from the Adams-Franklin district, today said he had no comment to make on the mention of his name as a possible successor to David L. Lawrence as chairman of the Pennsylvania State Democratic committee.

When asked about an announced conference with Senator Joseph P. Guffey in Washington today Colonel Rice said:

"I may go to Washington today on business, but it is not political business."

When asked if he would accept the Democratic State chairmanship if it was offered him Rice parried with the query: "Would you?" When pressed further he added:

Up To Committee

"I have read in the papers that my name is being mentioned as Lawrence's successor. It is likely that a dozen or more others are also being mentioned. After all it is up to the state committee to make the selection. I haven't discussed politics with anyone since leaving the Air Force."

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—A new Democratic chairman for Pennsylvania may be decided upon informally in talks here today.

Both the present chairman, Pittsburgh Mayor-Elect David L. Lawrence, and former State Senator John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, whose name has been mentioned as a possible successor to Lawrence, are expected in Washington today and are to see Democratic Senators Guffey and Myers.

Lawrence is a frequent capital visitor. Guffey told a reporter yesterday Rice has been here several times recently and that there is no particular significance in his visit today.

However, it will be the first time either Lawrence or Rice has been here since Rice's name was mentioned for the chairmanship.

Senators Non-Committal

Guffey declined to comment yesterday on the reports that Rice is being considered for the chairmanship. So did Myers.

Myers told a reporter he had no conference scheduled today with the other three. He said, however, he would probably see both visitors at some time during the day.

Agreement by Lawrence, Guffey and Myers on a new state chairman generally would be considered as settling the issue. However, the actual naming of a chairman will be done in Harrisburg the week of December 17, when the state Democratic committee meets for that purpose.

Lawrence is resigning the party post to carry out a campaign pledge made when he ran for mayor. He becomes Pittsburgh's mayor next month.

"Winds" Note By Japanese Discounted By Senate Lawyer

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Congressional investigators learned today that the late President Roosevelt declined to approve on June 7, 1941, a British-American plan for joint military operations in the event the United States became involved in war.

This was brought out in records submitted to the Senate-House committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941. They showed, however, that Mr. Roosevelt's military aide, Maj. Gen. E. M. Watson, told War department officials that "in case of war, the papers would be returned to the President for his approval."

By JACK BELL

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Congressional investigators were told today that the Japanese never broadcast a so-called "winds" message signaling a break with the U. S. prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941.

William D. Mitchell, counsel for the Senate-House inquiry group, told members that a check through General Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo failed to disclose evidence that the Japanese sent the pre-arranged signal to their consuls.

The "winds" message has been the subject of sharp controversy in several inquiries into the Pearl Harbor disaster.

On November 19, 1941, the Japanese sent to their diplomatic representatives a message setting up a code under which the inclusion of certain words in the noon Tokyo radio broadcast would mean that relations with Britain, the United States and Russia were "in danger" and there was likelihood that ordinary communications would be broken off. The consuls were instructed to burn their papers if they heard the words.

In the case of the United States, these words were "east wind rain." Mitchell told the committee so far as he has been able to learn, those words were never broadcast.

Mitchell said that a witness will testify that a Federal Communications Commission monitoring station picked up, before the Pearl Harbor attack, a message "north wind cloudy" which would have meant a break with Russia.

Mitchell added that on the afternoon of December 7, 1941, hours after the attack on Pearl Harbor, another station picked up the broadcast "west wind clear" which he said meant "war with England."

He said he regarded the first message, warning of a

LABOR PARTY OFFERS INDIA "SELF - RULE"

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(P) World Traveler

London, Dec. 5—Britain's new Labor government has tackled John Bull's greatest imperial problem—Indian independence—with a flying wedge which looks as though it might go places.

Not only has the promise of self-government for India been reaffirmed before Parliament, but the mother country has given its word that the vast India sub-continent will be allowed to cut loose entirely if it wants to.

Herbert Morrison, leader of the Labor majority in the House of Commons, has made the categorical declaration that Britain will not impose any restriction on the power of India to decide her future. This was in response to the blunt question whether India would be permitted to withdraw from the British commonwealth if her leaders so desired. However, said Morrison, "it is naturally our hope that India will remain of her own free will in the British commonwealth."

To Make Survey

All this was straight from the shoulder and unequivocal. But the Laborites didn't stop with words. They announced that a non-partisan Parliamentary committee will proceed to India immediately to make independent observations and report back to the government. This would be in preparation for the formation of an assembly to frame an Indian constitution next spring after the provincial elections have paved the way.

Last there be any misunderstanding, however, the government at the same time announced that it will resist "any attempts to resolve the constitutional issue by force."

This may have been inspired by the remark made last week by the Indian leader, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, that if Britain didn't take the initiative for India's independence, "other people" might do so. Next to Mohandas Gandhi, Nehru is the most powerful person in all India, and his words aren't passed lightly.

Well, where does all this get us on the Indian problem? Is this new move going to achieve results, or is it going to fizzle out as have so many other programs? We get a highly interesting slant on these questions from an editorial this morning in the Times of London, which for generations has been known as the Englishman's Bible. This staunch defender of the British empire deals with the matter in a lengthy article which says:

Factions Differ

"A straightforward program has thrown open the door through which Indians can pass to complete and unfettered control of their own internal and external affairs."

That seems to sum the position up accurately and unemotionally. Those who have followed this column know it long has maintained that the Indian problem is susceptible to solution—a view at which I arrived as the result of an intensive study beginning back in 1916.

However, it would be foolish to believe that there aren't many obstacles to overcome. One of the greatest of these has been the failure of the various Indian political factions to resolve their own differences.

Mountaineers Will Have Court Team

Divorced from Navy V-12 training, Mount St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, will attempt to start a collegiate basketball comeback today when an even dozen, untried aspirants for the varsity cage team are scheduled to turn out.

Just coming from a week's confinement to bed with an attack of flu, Coach Walter "Wally" Opekun, said Monday night that he had no idea of what his civilian prospects may develop into as a court quint.

The call has been issued for try-outs, with only 12 students having indicated a desire to play basketball. Opekun said he wants to get a line on his boys by December 15 when the Christmas holiday begins.

Going home early this Yuletide, Mount St. Mary's students are also due back early after Christmas when the Mount's court schedule will begin "if we only have a bare quintet of players," Opekun concluded.

Committee To Discuss Meters

The safety committee of the Gettysburg council will meet at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the office of Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., borough solicitor. Matters pertaining to the operation of the new parking meters are to be discussed, a member said.

The council on Monday evening left the date on which the meters will be placed in operation to the safety committee. This will be among other things discussed.

Meters were in readiness for operation but new pavement markings remain to be painted. The meters have been installed and posts and bases painted with aluminum paint.

A majority of the meters have been covered with paper bags to prevent their operation until such time as the committee sets, but there have been several instances of persons dropping coins in them, not knowing they were not in operation. This has happened where the paper bags have fallen off.

SAYS MIKADO HINTED WAR

By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, Dec. 5 (P)—The long unceremonious question, "Did Emperor Hirohito help push Japan into the war?"—A question which by its very nature once could not have been asked publicly in Nippon—was out in the open today.

The unprecedented question was asked last yesterday at a plenary session of the house of representatives budget committee. In reply, Premier Kijuro Shidehara told the house he personally believed Hirohito had no war responsibility and added that the occupation authorities have not raised the question with the government.

Today a retired Japanese general, Toshio Nishio, told the Associated Press that Hirohito attended a highly secretive conference held at the imperial palace in late November or early December, 1941, just prior to the war's outbreak. Nishio said the mikado informed the supreme war council "Japan might have to fight if things didn't improve."

Attack Kept Secret

Nishio added, however, what other Japanese have said—the emperor wasn't told a sneak attack on Pearl Harbor would open the conflict.

Inosuke Furuno, who as president of the recently dissolved Domei agency has been added by General MacArthur to the list of war criminal suspects, said in an interview the press could not prevent war because militarists controlled the sources of news.

He said that field dispatches of Domei correspondents were censored at the source during the war and "even when they returned to give the true situation we had no way of getting it into print."

Furuno, who plans to surrender shortly before the Dec. 12 deadline set by MacArthur, said Japan's navy department delayed announcement of the Pearl Harbor attack and he first heard about it "through monitoring an Associated Press broadcast" from the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myers, the latter a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newman, will present in memory of her father a missal stand for the Bible. A Bible will be presented by Miss Viola Sachs, Gettysburg. These gifts will be dedicated and consecrated at the service.

Occupants Of Auto Pinned In By Lumber

Duncansville, Pa., Dec. 5 (P)—A man was killed and two other persons were injured, one of them critically, in a freak truck-auto crash last night on Crescent road, a mile north of this Blair county community.

Fidelis Edward Gray, about 65, of Spangler, Cambria county, died of a broken neck. His wife, Virginia, 63, suffered brain concussion, a possible skull fracture and a broken ankle. Her condition was critical at Mercy hospital in Altoona. James Erb, 43, of Altoona, was in a "fair" condition with head injuries.

Dr. Daniel Replogle, Blair county coroner, said that when the auto hit the moving timber-laden truck from behind, projection boards speared through the windshield, pinning the car's occupants against the seat. It was necessary to use another truck to pull the vehicles apart.

Victims Of "Day Of Infamy" Return

Philadelphia, Dec. 5 (P)—The battleships California and Tennessee, two victims of "that day of infamy"—Pearl Harbor—return home to the United States tomorrow almost four years to the day when Japanese planes made their infamous sneak attack.

Both ships, completing the last leg of a 15,000-mile journey begun Oct. 15 when they lifted anchor in Tokyo bay, will make Philadelphia their first port of entry in the U. S. since Japan surrendered unconditionally.

The California, sunk at Pearl Harbor, will debark 820 officers and enlisted men of the 2,000 now aboard. The Tennessee, battered by Japanese bombs, will debark 1,059 of her 2,013 crew.

RATE BUCKNELL TEAM TO BEAT IN NEW LEAGUE

By LEE LINDER

Philadelphia, Dec. 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania's colleges begin the basketball year in earnest tonight when 11 Keystone state fives face off at the center jump in seven scheduled games.

Tomorrow two teams see action in a single game while Saturday 18 quintets tangle in an even dozen contests, several important from a national standpoint.

A few state schools have already opened their 1945-46 court season, but most of the major quintets inaugurate play tonight and Saturday.

Villanova, victor in its opener against Georgetown last Saturday, hosts Princeton tonight in a top inter-sectional contest between two highly-regarded eastern teams.

Penn State and Bucknell inaugurate their seasons—the Nittany Lions entertaining Susquehanna, while the potent Bucknell Bison invades the ballcock of Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J.

The dopest rate Bucknell as the team to beat in the northern division of the recently organized middle Atlantic basketball league. But the sharp-shooting Mules of Muhlenberg college, conqueror of Princeton in its first 1945 test, may upset the Bison title-cart.

Muhlenberg tangles with twice-victorious and unbeaten La Salle college at Philadelphia.

Elizabethtown Here
Elizabethtown invades Gettysburg; St. Joseph's college, for years a big name in national basketball circles, is home to Washington college, and Juniata plays Westminster at New Wilmington, Pa., in other games tonight.

Carnegie Tech entertains Juniata at Pittsburgh tomorrow.

Temple's Owls, regarded as a possible contender for the mythical national championship, helps open the Philadelphia convention hall doubleheader season Saturday when they meet Muhlenberg. St. Joseph's tangles with Utah in the feature half of the double bill—first of 13 bargain double features in the Quaker city.

The University of Pennsylvania, Swarthmore, Lafayette, Pittsburgh, Franklin and Marshall, Slippery Rock Teachers, Geneva college and Allegheny college are other Keystone state quintets playing their first court fray Saturday.

NEW OXFORD TO PLAY 14 TILTS

Fourteen cage games have been scheduled for the New Oxford high school basketball team during the coming season. The girls' team is listed for 12 games.

Couch Jack Miller has a squad of about 25 boys drilling daily in preparation for the opening game on January 1 at York Springs. No let-upmen are available from last year and the team will probably be built around "Don" Reichert and "Bud" Midsian, members of last season's avsee squad.

Ivan R. Mechtly is in charge of the girls' team.

The schedule follows:

January 1, York Springs, away;
Arendsville, home; 8, East Berlin, away;
11, York Springs, home;
5, Biglerville, away; 18, Littlestown, home;
25, Fairfield, home; 29, Arendsville, away; February 1, East Berlin, home; 5, Biglerville, home; Littlestown, away; 12, Manchester, home; 15, Fairfield, away; 19, Manchester, away.

*Two boys' games.

Elizabethtown Quint Plays Here Tonight

This evening the Gettysburg college basketball team will open their 17-game season by meeting Elizabethtown college on the college court at 8 o'clock.

Following tonight's tilt the Bullets will play two more games before the Christmas holiday recess. On Saturday Albright will be met at Reading and on December 11 Juniata will be played here.

EAST BERLIN WINS 2 GAMES

The East Berlin high school basketball team won two of three games played Tuesday evening with Dover high on the East Berlin floor.

In the feature game the East Berlin boys got off to a 21-5 lead in the first half to win easily 37-15.

The Dover girls won a hard-fought game from the East Berlin lassies 28-21.

John Myers looped eight field goals to pace the East Berlin boys' Jayvees to a 30-16 triumph in the third game.

Next Tuesday return games will be played at Dover and on December 13 the Dallastown boys and girls will play at East Berlin.

MOVE TO BOOST COAST LOOP TO MAJOR OPPOSED

By HAROLD HARRISON

Columbus, O., Dec. 5 (AP)—The Pacific coast league and the southern association provided the fireworks today as the 44th annual convention of the National professional baseball leagues settled down to actual business.

The Pacific coast loop wanted to become a major league and the southern association was ready to say "no" and lead the fight against creation of a class AAA group for the current three class AA leagues—the American association, the International and Pacific coast leagues.

The Pacific coast league was the first to start the ball rolling in what otherwise has been largely a session of lobby sitting and lobby talking.

Needs Approval

From out of a room, Clarence Rowland, president of the PCL, emerged with the statement that his organization had resolved that the Pacific coast league become a major league in 1946, explaining that the proposal "must obtain approval of the commissioner of baseball, of the presidents of the two major leagues and the National association."

Within a few minutes the southern association announced it would oppose any amendment to raise the other two big minors to class AAA. The southern association already has voted to go from Class A-1 to class AA and the league said it would carry its fight to the convention floor.

Leagues to Resume

Meantime these things went on: The Philadelphia Phillies gave up Pitcher Steven Gerkin and outfielder Mayo Smith to Portland of the Pacific coast league for Pitcher Wendell Mosser.

The Texas league, suspended since the war, voted to play a 154-game schedule, beginning April 16.

The three-I league, also suspended during the war, voted to open April 28 for a 126-game schedule.

Sports

Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Columbus, O., Dec. 5 (AP)—Inflation must be here. First the Southern association moved up a class, the double-A leagues threaten to make it triple-A and now the Pacific coast league has decided to become a third major circuit—until the major league meeting next week, at least.

Only logical reason for these changes that we have heard advanced is the claim that the south should stand on even terms with the east (International league), the midwest (American association) and the Pacific coast. . . . And does anyone want to bet that the coast league wouldn't withdraw its bid for big league status if it gets that $15,000 draft price it has been after for a couple of years? . . . Might be settled for even less than that. Some smart baseballers claim it takes more than four million attendance to make a big league go while the PCL hasn't done much better than three million. They also say that $10,000 is about as high as anyone could be induced to go for a drafted player.

LOBBY LEFTOVERS

First trade of the minor league convention involved a pitcher who won on games and lost 12 and a 212 hitter for a hurler who looked so good when he was sold to Portland a couple of years ago that the selling club refunded the price. . . . That's the tipoff on the kind of business they're doing. . . . Rumors include a Phillies-Giants dicker for Vince DiMaggio, and some sort of Phils-Pirates deal, which hasn't gone far because each club withdrew its first offer after hearing what the other club would give. . . . The Dodgers might send Luis Olmo to Cincinnati for Ray Lamanne. . . . You might say that trade was Olmo most mad. . . . The Terre Haute, Ind., club is being swamped with letters from folks who want to buy a share of stock for $1 and wants to explain that it really isn't stock, just a sort of fan club. . . . Cmdr. Jap Haskell, Oklahoma U. athletic director, stopped here for a visit while on terminal leave but is hurrying back to Norman to see about a replacement for Football Coach Snorter Luster.

MARTY MARION NOT FOR SALE

By SID FEDER

Columbus, O., Dec. 5 (AP)—The $250,000 price tag that was dangling from Marty Marion around world series time has been torn off, and "Mr. Shortstop" is definitely not for sale, the St. Louis Cardinals told the rest of the baseball world today.

What's more, the Cards are planning no deals involving "name" players just now, even though the collection of talent they'll have back from the armed forces alone is better than a lot of national league clubs will field as varsity in 1946 and already has made St. Louis the standout pennant favorite for next year.

Eddie Dyer, the slow-talking Texan who came out of the oil bush as to manage the Cardinals next season, laid all this and considerable more out on the counter for the folks to look at today at baseball's great lobby-sitting sweepstakes—the annual minor league meetings.

Same Infield Again

According to Dyer, not only "Mr. Shortstop," but probably the entire 1946 Cardinal infield "seems like it will stay" the same as it was in '45, with Ray Sanders on first, Dutch Verban on second and Whitey Kurowski on the hot corner.

Also back from service for infield duty are Lou Klein, who'll be "valuable as general utility man," Eddie explains, and Jim Brown.

Dyer expects his outfield will be Terry Moore and Enos Slaughter, both on the way out of the army, with Johnny Hopp and Buster Adams alternating in the third spot, depending on enemy elbowing.

Cleveland Bowler Leads Tournament

Chicago, Dec. 5 (AP)—Forty-three of the nation's front-ranking bowlers, survivors in a field of 139 in four days of competition, will roll 12 games each today to determine the finalists in the fifth annual all-star bowling tournament for the match-games championship of 1945.

Walter Ward, the Cleveland sharp-shooting veteran, leads the 43 qualifiers for today's semi-finals with 4,975 in 24 games. The 207-average of the 48-year-old Keglins star, put him 45 pins ahead of his nearest rival, Chet Bukowski, of Detroit, who had a 4,930-pin total.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BEAUTY—WITH MUSIC

The late Grenville Lindall Winthrop, the noted American art collector, once said: "I never buy anything unless it has music in it." Meaning "poetry, rhythm, beauty."

Being a modest collector of art myself, I can understand what this famous collector, and lover of art, meant. Music, movement, character, and soul-spirit are in all great art. That is why such works of art so deeply impress and stir you.

Every lover of nature, also, can appreciate what Mr. Winthrop had in mind. I have sat on the rustic veranda of my summer lodge in Nova Scotia and looked out among the thick pines to the water beyond, when hardly a stir was in the air—but there was music just the same, in that air.

In my trips across the country, in or near harvest time, I have been fascinated by the rhythm of the waving grain, as though God were putting on an orchestral display of music across the rolling fields.

I am sure that a beautiful garden of flowers always arouses an emotional feeling in the mind and heart of every true lover of beauty—and, if it isn't a poem that this beauty creates, then it must be soft and melodious music.

We read, or hear spoken, much about the song of the sea—and to me, at least, there has always seemed to be a song there. So soft and mellow at times and then its crescendo like a triumphant note, broadcast through endless space.

There are notes of music in rare tapestries, in exquisite etchings, in the beautiful and honest workmanship of old furniture, in vases, and in fact in all works that have had the touch of a master. The song of the heart buries itself deep in all that loving fingers have once made vital and alive.

Beauty is so essential to a happy life, that is, the love of it. It gives nourishment to the soul and puts a never ending song into the heart.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "One Never Knows."

Escaped Convict Is Sought In Slaying

Camden, N. J., Dec. 5 (AP)—An intensive two-state police search was underway Tuesday for Michael (Mickey) Quinn, an escaped convict sought for questioning in connection with the shotgun slaying Friday of 27-year-old Mitchell Sadowski.

Police here and in Philadelphia, who refused to be identified, said Quinn—he escaped from a Washington, D. C., jail November 24 while awaiting action on an appeal from conviction in a $24,000 holdup—was the leader in an armed robbery of a roadhouse near Garden State race track last February.

Sadowski, an ex-convict employed at the Camden Pottery works, was questioned after the road house robbery, police said. He was slain by two shotgun blasts as he left the plant. Fellow workmen said they did not see the gunman.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Work Begins at New Factory: A small force of men began work on Monday morning at the new panel factory recently erected near the plant of the Gettysburg and Reaser Furniture companies. This factory which is the largest of the new industries established here during the year, is expected to be ready for operation by the first of the year, according to a statement made by M. C. Jones, general manager.

Fire Fighters Saved Aspers: Prenzled efforts of two hundred and fifty volunteer fire fighters combined with effective streams of chemicals and water produced by fire departments, from Biglerville, Bendersville and Aspers prevented the town of Aspers from being wiped off the map late Saturday afternoon (November 27). Fire of unknown origin which broke out in the new addition of the Penn Tile works completely destroyed that building as well as a nearby dwelling house. The loss is estimated at between $20,000 and $25,000 and is partially covered by insurance.

Masons Observe Anniversary Day: In accordance with the request of David J. Davis, most excellent grand high priest, a special meeting of Good Samaritan Royal Arch Chapter was held in Good Samaritan Hall, Center Square, Monday evening, to celebrate the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of The Grand Holy Royal Arch Chapter of Pennsylvania.

Rev. J. F. Kelly Weds at Capital: Rev. J. Franklin Kelly, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church, Lawrence Park, Erie, Pennsylvania, was quietly married Tuesday afternoon to Miss Hope Eyster, of Harrisburg, in the Lutheran Memorial church, Washington, D. C., by the pastor, Rev. G. M. Diffenderfer. Mr. Kelly is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Kelly, York street.

Local Factories Close: General business depression that is sweeping the country and which resulted in the shutting down of the Eagle Silk Throwing plant and American Cigar company factory here affected the Gettysburg and Reaser furniture factories Tuesday afternoon, when every department of those two establishments, excepting one, closed for the remainder of the week.

Gardners Couple to Wed: J. R. Hartman, Adams county clerk of the courts, granted a marriage license Thursday afternoon to Elmer M. Kinnaman, of Gardners, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kinnaman, of Myersville, Maryland, and Mildred Naomi Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Miller, of Gardners.

Class Party: A very enjoyable class party was held recently at the home of Mary Esther White, who is a student at the Gettysburg high school. The chaperones were Mr. Lippy and Miss Applier.

Quietly Married: Miss Dessie Margaret Poole, of Tyrone township, and Roy Ervin Breighner, of Butler township, were quietly married by Rev. T. C. Hesson in the Reformed parsonage at Arendtsville, Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Breighner is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Poole, while her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Breighner.

Sings to Tars at Sea: New York, Dec. 4—Tetrazzini sang to the sailors of Uncle Sam's navy last night.

From her apartment in the heart of Manhattan the famous prima donna's voice floated out to the listening ears of bluejackets aboard battleships and destroyers at sea and in port and to land stations far and wide.

The songs went out by wireless, an official text authorized by Secretary Daniels.

Harry Stock Married: At a private ceremony performed in the New Oxford Reformed church, Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock, Miss Martha M. Keeny became the bride of Harry C. Stock.

Rev. Keener, pastor of the Reformed church there, performed the ceremony.

CIO PRESIDENT BREAKS WITH HARRY TRUMAN

Pittsburgh, Dec. 5 (AP)—Philip Murray, one of the strongest backers of Harry S. Truman in the political campaign of 1944, has broken sharply with him over legislation the President proposes to end labor strife in the United States.

In a softly-spoken but bitterly phrased radio address, CIO President Murray last night accused the administration of "abject cowardice," and declared "the design" of laws proposed by Truman "is to weaken and ultimately destroy labor union organizations."

Answering President Truman's pleas that workers end strikes and refrain from calling further strikes, Murray declared:

"Our objective is to restore the huge cut in the national pay envelope. Unless we do, clearly America faces bad times. If the workers do not have the purchasing power to buy the goods, the wheels of industry cannot keep turning."

Cites Workers' Action

Murray asserted large companies—citing the U. S. Steel corporation and General Motors corporation—had flatly refused pay increases and had refused government requests to resume negotiations with the unions.

"Confronted with this situation, American labor, in self-protection and in the interest of the entire nation, has turned to their right to strike," said Murray, and continued: "This is what the workers of General Motors were compelled to do."

"This is why over half a million steelworkers have voted five to one authorizing a steel strike."

"This is why electrical manufacturing workers, aluminum, packing-house and rubber workers and others are also voting overwhelmingly in favor of strikes."

Earlier in the day, Murray wired the White House that the Truman proposals "will be brought to the attention of the (steelworkers) wage policy committee Tuesday, December 11." This will be during a three-day session of the committee to consider further action on the recent steelworkers' NLRB ballot, in which the union approved by five to one vote, calling a strike to back up a $2-a-day wage demand.

Raps Administration
Murray, in his radio address, quoted the Office of War Mobilization as having reported "that American industry can raise wages and salaries 24 per cent and still earn twice as much take-home profits as it did before the war."

"Faced with these economic conditions, what has the federal administration done?" Murray asked. "It has completely ignored human rights. But American industry has been appeased with ever greater opportunities for increased profits at the expense of the American people."

"Industry has refused to engage in collective bargaining," Murray asserted. "Industry has refused to accept voluntary arbitration in the automobile dispute. Industry has refused to meet with the union in the steel industry though specifically requested by the federal government."

"To all this arrogance the federal administration yields in abject cowardice."

'Sabotage' Cripples Property Disposal

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—"Sabotage" within government agencies is wrecking surplus property disposal, says Anne X. Alpern, Pittsburgh's city solicitor.

Miss Alpern, only woman law chief of a major city, made the statement at a meeting of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers Monday holding a three-day conclave here.

"No administrator, howsoever honest, can attempt to accomplish the objectives of the surplus property program without adequately trained personnel in full sympathy with the objectives," she said.

Miss Alpern said that Pittsburgh has tried to buy $2,000,000 worth of surplus equipment and has got nothing but "surplus correspondence."

"The temptation to put your hand or your friend's hand in the billion dollar grab-bag is real. There are so many grabbing and there is so much to grab," she asserted.

War On Two Flower Enemies

Early December is an excellent time of the year to stage a war of extermination against two widely troublesome flower insect pests—the gladiolus thrip and the iris stalk and root borer. Both of these insects may be effectively reduced in numbers by prompt and proper action within the next two or three weeks.

The gladiolus thrip, a tiny pest that infests the growing plant and causes partial or complete failure by sucking sap from the leaves, lives over winter in the stored corns. Few experienced gladiolus growers now doubt that this is the chief source of survival. Formerly it was believed that many of the insects lived over in dead refuse left in the flower beds and elsewhere in the garden and lawn. Therefore, if the breeding thrips and their eggs in and among the corns are killed and destroyed before winter, few if any will survive to attack the plants the following summer. Directions for this pre-winter corn treatment are simple and the treatment is inexpensive.

Take the stored corns from their respective trays or other storage containers and place them in small paper bags, such as are used by candy dealers and grocers. Add one-half to one cup of naphthalene flakes to each bag for 100 corns or proportionately for smaller numbers. If a larger number of corns is to be treated, it is advisable to divide them into lots of 100 to gain the maximum results. Fold the bag tops over three or four times and fasten them securely to hold the fumes among the corns for a period of four to six weeks. Thereafter return them to their regular storage containers and inspect them in two or three weeks to determine if any thrips survive to warrant repetition of the treatment.

Iris growers are aware of the destructive ravages of the difficult-to-control stalk borer. This grub feeds within the growing plant and is thereby immune to ordinary insecticidal control methods. However, there is an important key to full routing of this pest and it is found in the knowledge of how it lives over winter. Here is a brief cycle history to reveal that key:

The borer is a pinkish grub, measuring almost an inch and a half in length when fully grown. There is but a single generation each year. After entering the plant through the fleshy stalk the grub feeds downward into the rootstalk, either killing the plant outright or rendering it incapable of producing a bloom.

When matured in late summer, the borer emerges, enters the soil and pupates. A moth appears in October to mate and the female lays her annual batch of eggs on the iris leaves. These hatch into grubs again the next spring.

This history should suggest instantly how to control the iris borer—destroy the eggs before winter.

Fortunately the task is not difficult. It consists of gathering all iris refuse and burning it, and thereby destroying the eggs. Many successful growers burn the dry leaves on the bed surface in order to avoid any eggs that may have been dislodged to the ground during the clean-up process. Or the remaining eggs may be destroyed by sowing dry straw thinly over the bed and burning it. There is little or no danger of injuring iris roots if the surface blaze is kept moderate and yet sufficiently uniform to reach all the eggs.

SENATE DEBATE GOES FAR AFIELD

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Senate debate on America's part in the United Nations organization spilled over Tuesday into a wide range of world relations.

There were these developments as the Senate argued through another day:

1. A suggestion by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) that it might be necessary for the United States, Britain and Russia to sign a three-power treaty formally guaranteeing against any Axis resurgence.

2. An argument by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) that the United States must help build up the every-nation assembly in the United Nations organization. Otherwise, he said, smaller nations might get the idea that this country is emphasizing UNO's 11-member security council and "thereby playing power politics."

3. A proposal by Senator Mead (D-NY) that the Senate meet earlier and longer to get the UNO-participation bill out of the way so as to hasten action on legislation to relieve the hungry in Europe.

All made their proposals in debate which saw the UNO bill remain unchanged so far from the form in which the Foreign Relations committee sent it to the floor. But critics—encouraged by only a four-vote defeat on one issue—were ready with a host of new amendments.

Single Head Is Opposed By Leahy

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Admiral William D. Leahy Tuesday opposed proposals for a single national defense department as "radical" and "revolutionary."

The wartime chief of staff to both President Roosevelt and President

Truman, told the Senate Military Affairs Committee he was offering "my own personal views."

"I am quite certain that naval efficiency would be seriously reduced," the admiral told senators in discussing recommendations by War Department officials and army generals that a single postwar defense department be formed with navy, army and air force branches.

2. I've got my eye on a business I can purchase clear and free,
I'm saving my pay for the lucky day when I start to work for me!

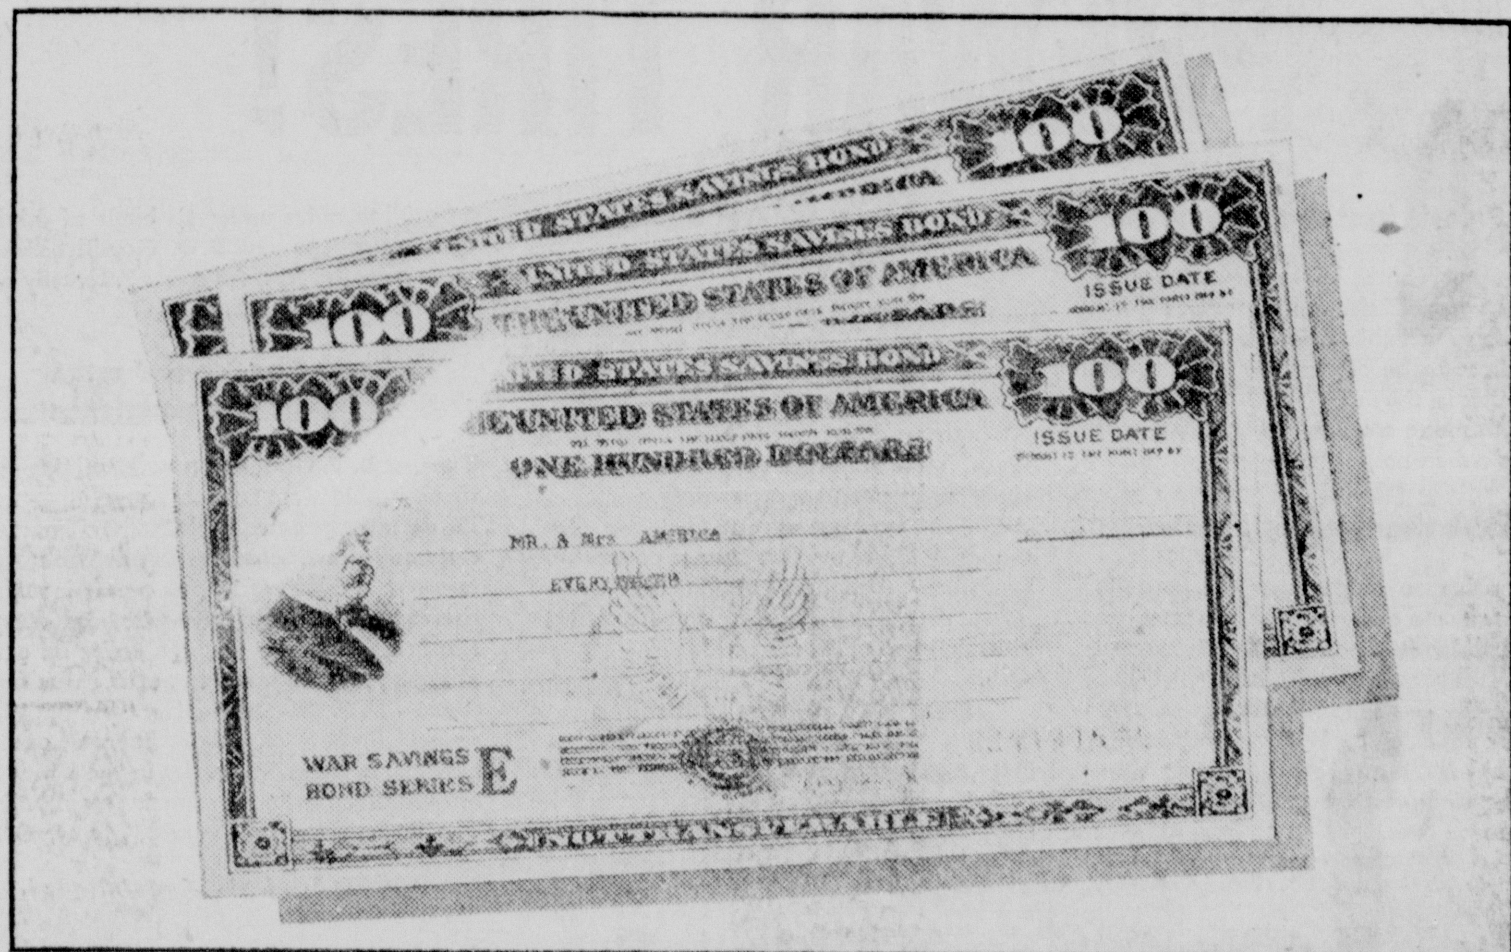

3. We're planning a year of travel, now the flags of war are furled,
And each Bond we keep is another leap in our trip around the world!

4. Some day I want to retire, I'm saving my cash for then,
For with Bonds around I won't be found in a home for broke old men!

...and his plans can come true!

Your dollars won't shirk, they'll pitch in and work...
Each three bucks will bring you back four!

EX - SAILOR, 19, PLEADS GUILTY TO KILLING GIRL

Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 5 (AP)—Presiding Judge W. Russell Carr heard witnesses today to determine the degree of guilt of 19-year-old Frederick E. "Red" Hauser, ex-sailor, in the death of Fayette city's "sunshine girl," pretty 17-year-old Anna Elizabeth Dreyer.

Hauser suddenly changed his plea from innocent to guilty yesterday while the court was still attempting to select a jury to try the case.

The defendant entered a general plea of guilty of murder. This left the degree of penalty up to the court.

Judge Carr immediately began calling witnesses to tell the story of Anna Dreyer's death.

The girl's father, Frederick W. Dreyer, identified clothing found along a lonely highway near Fayette city last Sept. 6 as that which his daughter wore when he last saw her alive. His voice trembled as he spoke.

Joseph Peryok, 30, of Monessen, member of an orchestra playing at the Twin Coaches night club on Route 51, said he had known Miss Dreyer for some time. He said he was going home about 2:30 a. m. the morning of Sept. 1 when he saw the girl talking to a man near the restaurant at which she worked.

Purse Is Clue
Peryok said Miss Dreyer called to him and introduced the man to him as Mr. Hauser.

"She said something about Hauser wanting to take her home," said Peryok. "When I started to leave, I said, 'are you going with Hauser?' She said she was. I helped her into the car and said, 'good night. Take good care of her.'"

Corp. Charles H. Dewitt, in charge of the Belle Vernon state police substation, told of questioning Hauser the day Anna was reported missing and of being told:

"I hope you find her. It looks bad since I was the last one to be seen with her."

Dewitt said it was Anna's pocketbook that led to discovery of her nude, battered body in a clump of bushes along a lonely highway. The pocketbook had been picked up at the roadside by Kenneth Hennen of Grandville, Washington county. He reported to state police and led them to the spot the purse was found. The body was discovered about a mile away.

Dr. W. R. Vernon, Perryopolis, said the girl apparently died of strangulation.

Valley Forge To Be TB Hospital

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—The army's hospital at Valley Forge, Pa., eventually will become a 600-bed tuberculosis hospital of the Veterans Administration, Rep. Fenton (R-Pa.) said Tuesday.

Fenton, World War I army doctor and member of the House Military Committee, told a reporter he received the information from Maj. Gen. Paul E. Hawley, Veterans Administration surgeon general.

Fenton recently accompanied Hawley on a tour of army hospitals in the southwest to determine which would be suitable for Veterans Administration use. Most of them, he said, are not.

The 600-bed hospital Fenton said would be established in the Valley Forge institution is the one which Berks county and Reading, Pa., tentatively had been promised by former Administrator Frank T. Hines.

INDICTMENT FOUND
Beaver, Pa., Dec. 5 (AP)—A Beaver county grand jury indicted Robert J. Dixon, Jr., 25, discharged war veteran of Beaver Falls, yesterday on a slaying charge in the death of 17-year-old Eugene Lother, also of Beaver Falls.

The indictment alleged that Dixon shot the youth after he flashed a light into a parked car in which Dixon was sitting with his divorced wife.

PA. SCIENTISTS SEEK CURE FOR DEADLY DISEASE

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania scientists are seeking a cure for a deadly tropical disease which has affected as high as 50 per cent of some American military units based in the Pacific, the Pennsylvania Society for Advancing Medical Research disclosed today.

Dr. F. D. W. Lukens, society secretary, said the disease—filariasis, also known as heart worm—is carried from person to person by a mosquito.

"There is no known cure at the present time," he said.

Asserting "medical research by Pennsylvania scientists saved countless lives and played a vital role in maintaining the health and stamina of America's fighting forces," the society disclosed federal authorities sponsored scores of secret medical projects in the Keystone state during the war.

War Research
In addition to the research into filariasis, these included:

Providing ways and means to enable aviators to fly so high that flak would be ineffective against them.

Discovering substances which the blood of wounded soldiers could be replaced when blood itself was not available.

Improving the effectiveness of treatment by penicillin and similar anti-bacterial agents.

Protecting soldiers against gas attack and treating of gassed men.

Another project in which they aided was the development of atabrine as a substitute for quinine when the loss of Java to the Japanese made that source of quinine, used against malaria, unavailable to America.

ALP IS FACING LONG FIGHT ON SPRING BALLOT

Harrisburg, Dec. 5 (AP)—The American Labor Party's right to a place on next spring's primary election ballot faced long delay today as the state election board started returning reports to several counties for additional information.

Mrs. Elizabeth I. Zimmerman, assistant director of the bureau, said these counties had failed to report any American Labor Party votes at the general election last month.

The election board must determine whether the ALP polled sufficient votes on November 6 to equal two per cent of the highest vote cast for any elected officer.

Mrs. Zimmerman said all but five counties had reported their official vote in the state-wide election of two superior court justices, with Allegheny and Philadelphia listed among the five missing counties.

Need Entire Result
She explained that the entire vote must be compiled in order to determine the highest vote cast for one candidate. Then the ALP vote must be compiled to determine if the party's total vote equals two per cent of the highest total.

The ALP must also show a vote equal to two per cent of the highest vote cast for winning candidates in 10 counties of the state.

Meanwhile, the Republican Finance committee of Pennsylvania reported to the election bureau that it has a balance of $201,432 on hand after spending $232,125 during the past year.

Large Contributors
J. William Hardt, treasurer of the committee, said the organization's balance from 1944, plus contributions received since then, provided the

Independents Join Nationalist Forces

Chungking, Dec. 5 (AP)—A Chinese press dispatch said Tuesday that independent Manchurian forces had marched into Mukden to welcome Nationalist troops only 30 miles away.

This report said that a brother of Marshal Chan Sueh-liang—who once electrified the world by kidnapping Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek—had proclaimed himself "an ally of the Nationalists" and had sent his troops into the key city.

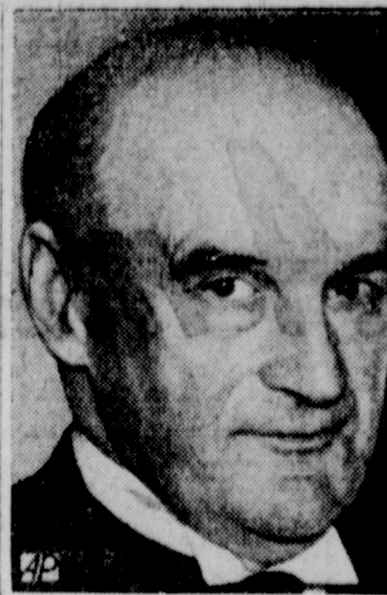

Dispatches a few days ago had reported that the marshal's brother, Gen. Chang Hsu-shih, was ready to join the Nationalist cause if assurances were given that his brother would not be molested.

A report from Yen-an, Communist capital, also had credited Gen. Chu Teh, commander-in-chief of Chinese Communists, with a statement that his forces had no connection with the activities of Marshal Chang's former northeastern forces.

In addition to these individual contributions the committee received from county Republican committees various sums including $20,700 from Allegheny; two contributions from Dauphin totaling $3,000; the sum of $5,000 from Lehigh, and $2,500 from Crawford county.

Italian Crisis Ends In New Government

Rome, Dec. 5 (AP)—Christian Democratic leader Alcide de Gasperi announced Tuesday he had succeeded in forming a new Italian government, ending a nine-day political crisis.

The crisis was resolved after a tense six-hour wait for Liberal party support. It came when Liberal party secretary Leone Cattani announced his party, which lost its struggle for the key ministry of the interior, decided to enter the government because of "great esteem for De Gasperi."

"We feel that he is the best man in Italy at this time," the Liberal party spokesman said.

De Gasperi, 64, was foreign minister in the cabinet of Premier Ferruccio Parri, who resigned when his coalition government was broken by the withdrawal of the Liberals and Christian Democrats.

COOKS WITH GAS

... and for mighty good reasons!

Those smart women who do such a swell job of housekeeping in your neighborhood overwhelmingly choose to cook with the modern kitchen fuel, Gas. And here are some of the reasons.

ECONOMY—those housewives know a bargain! No other fuel can give such matchless economy! No other fuel has so many important advantages as Gas.

AUTOMATIC CONTROL—Gas is the most precisely controllable of all sources of heat energy in the kitchen. Your meals can be laid out with mathematical precision and your Gas range will do its job, automatically, while you rest or take care of other duties.

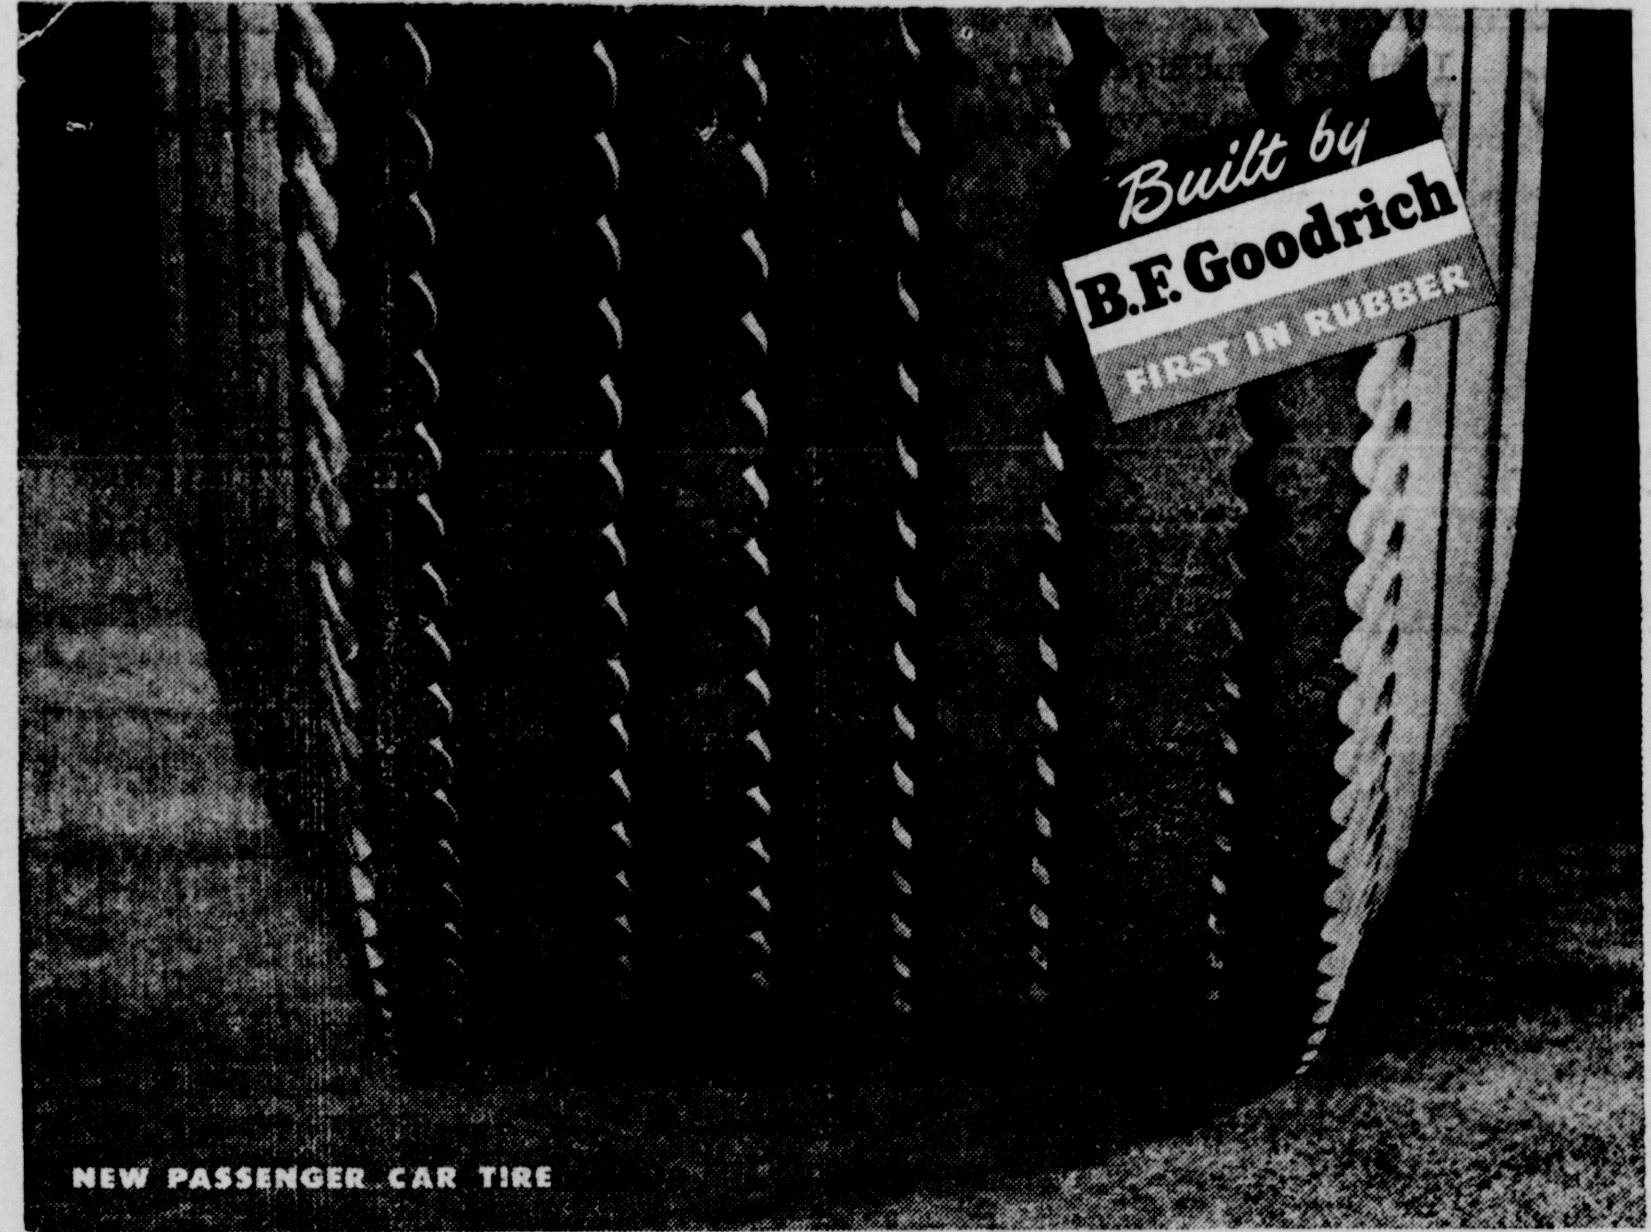

EFFICIENCY AND SUPERB RESULTS—The Gas range cooks your meals quickly, effortlessly, without waste or spoilage. And the nutritious dishes that result retain all their natural tastiness and nourishment.

CLEANLINESS—your modern Gas range cooks with a clean, dependable flame that saves you scrubbing and scouring.

OVEN AND BROILER SUPERIORITY—your modern Gas range, with its insulated walls, keeps the heat concentrated on the food, providing greater kitchen coolness and comfort. And you have even heating in all of the oven, because Gas heat is "convected" heat, that insures the same temperature any place in the oven.

Inquire at your Gas Appliance Dealer or your Gas Company about the grand, new Gas Ranges, Gas Refrigerators and other Gas appliances that will make your home of the future an even better place to live.

Coming soon: new B. F. Goodrich synthetic TIRE THAT OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES!

It's today's best tire for your car
"A MIRACLE," some have called it! Few believed that a tire could ever be made of synthetic rubber that would actually outdistance those made of prewar natural rubber. Yet, here it is, the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown. And here are some of the reasons for its longer-than-prewar mileage:
New, better synthetic rubber
A new rubber, so superior that for a long time it was a closely guarded military secret, was developed by B. F. Goodrich. Tires made with this rubber wear longer, run cooler. They have greater resistance to cracking—actually are more resistant to bruising and damage from accidents. But rubber is only one reason why the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown outwears prewar tires.
New road-level tread—stronger body
In the picture above, note how the tread is flatter—puts more rubber on the road. This means that more rubber shares the wear, spreads it evenly over the whole tread surface. No more worn-out-in-the-middle treads. The result: more mileage, better traction, more skid-resistance and greater safety.
The tire body is more rugged, too. B. F. Goodrich developed a stronger cotton cord for this tire. And more cords are used than in prewar tires. Another feature that means more miles, greater safety for you.
Nearly 17 million test miles
Over 2,000 tests have been made with this new tire. Taxi fleets, state police cars, and the B. F. Goodrich test fleet have rolled up nearly 17 million miles under all kinds of driving conditions. The new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown gives longer tread wear... actually outdistances prewar tires.
Backed by 3 years' EXTRA synthetic tire experience
The first B. F. Goodrich tires containing synthetic rubber were sold to American motorists 18 months before Pearl Harbor. That was three full years before any other tire manufacturer... three years' extra synthetic rubber tire experience. This three-year head start is another reason why you can count on extra mileage... extra safety... extra value from the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown. Supplies are still limited, of course, but we hope to have much larger quantities in the hands of most dealers within the next few months. The B. F. Goodrich Company, Akron, Ohio.

NANKING TO BE CAPITAL FOR CHINESE YUAN

Chungking, Dec. 5 (AP)—A cabinet spokesman said today that China's executive Yuan would meet in Nanking after Dec. 15th and that under present plans Premier T. V. Soong also would move to the former capital.

The spokesman, P. H. Chang, announced that personnel from various ministries would be established at Nanking within 10 days although the government would remain at Chungking, possibly until next March. Fifteen hundred government workers would be flown to Nanking before Dec. 15, he said.

Meanwhile, Vice-minister for Foreign Affairs Liu Chieh announced that Russian-Chinese negotiations for the airborne movement of nationalist troops into Mukden and Changchun, Manchuria would be concluded within a few days.

Take Over Reign
Liu said the troops would take over provincial and municipal administrations in the rich northern province.

The nationalists' overland drive already has passed the rail town of Sinmin, 30 miles west of Mukden, and is heading for the historic, industrially rich city itself, press dispatches said.

Their advance along the Peiping-Mukden railroad has been virtually unchallenged all the way from the great wall gateway of Shanhaikwan, the dispatches reported.

Other press reports, however, described brisk fighting the past few days along the great wall south of Kupeikow, one of the main passes leading from China proper into Jehol. The main nationalist objective in this drive was reported to be Chengteh, capital of Jehol province.

In Chungking, Gen. Hsiung Shih-jui, director of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's branch headquarters for Manchuria, said the government advances into Manchuria would continue until the whole country had been "recovered."

DECRIES FEAR

keep their word, why not the U. S. and Britain?"

He charged that neither this country nor Britain had kept its word in numerous instances in the past; that this country for 16 years had refused to recognize the Soviet Republic; that it had not carried out President Wilson's 14 points; that it had ignored Russia's pleas for disarmament and its pleas for intervention to stop the Ethiopian and Manchurian invasions, and the seizure of the Ruhr.

"In the face of the record, Russia naturally began to lose confidence," Dr. Davis said. "I am not implying that Russia is any better than others, but Russia is only 28 years out of the dark. It has lots of faults, but we have got to have reciprocity all around."

Favored Loan
Dr. Davis said he favored a loan to Russia and the building up of trade relations between the two countries, Russia and the United States.

Conditions in Russia were also described by Dr. Davis, but he warned that they should not be compared with living conditions in the United States, but rather with conditions existing in Russia during the days of the czar.

"Their condition has been immeasurably improved," he declared. Russians are deeply grateful to the United States for lend-lease assistance, he said.

Mr. Chamberlain declared that Russian attitude and actions after the revolution had not been conducive to cooperations among other nations of the world. He charged that they had fostered an international organization to stir up troubles in other countries, among other things, and promoted uprisings.

Test Of Honesty
Declaring that the surest test of the honesty of an election, was that the majority should not go above 60 per cent of the vote, Mr. Chamberlain said elections in Romania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria under the Russian influence did not indicate this state of honesty. He admitted, however, Dr. Davis' contention that elections in Finland, Hungary and Austria indicated a fair result.

Reference had been made to the fact that Russia had conducted elections in these countries, contrasting with the fact no elections have yet been held in Greece, Japan or India, dominated by other allied spheres of influence.

The speakers at the Tuesday evening session were introduced by the Rev. George S. Stoneback, Fairfield.

Asks Observance Of Red Anniversary

"It is most appropriate that this 12th anniversary be marked with thoughts of lasting peace between our own great country and our allies," said Martin. "Let us go forward together now to build and maintain a peaceful world for all peoples."

The Fourth Mrs. Baker

By Ernestine Adams

AP Newsfeature

Chapter 23
(Monday 10:05 p. m. to 11:07 p. m.)

When the Inspector and Julia arrived at her apartment shortly after 10 o'clock, they found the place over-run. Jerry greeted her with open arms and spilled some liquor on her coat from the glass he carried.

Frank's eyes were anxious and he gave her a sympathetic pat on the back before he introduced a new man, Howard Irving.

"He's Robey's lawyer, just come in from California," he explained hurriedly before other voices called out.

Grace was still there, her vivacious hair disheveled and her husky voice blurred.

"We thought you were interned by now," he said.

"No, just a captive," Virginia chimed in with an arch glance at the Inspector.

The Inspector's face was dark with anger.

"I'm sorry you were anxious about me," she began in a clear voice. "You're all been very kind." She finished with an intake of breath that was almost a sob.

"Poor child," said Jerry. "We'll all go and I'll come tomorrow and take you to the services."

She almost asked what services, when she realized he meant Robey's funeral. It seemed so long ago that Robey had died.

"Irving and I will be here early, my dear," Frank said. "We have to go over some things."

"You are such a help, Frank," she told him gratefully.

"If you're going to read the will I think I should be here," Grace spoke up.

Frank looked at Irving and the lawyer cleared his voice before he spoke. "There is no will."

The second Mrs. Baker turned on him, furiously unimpressed of the watching group around her.

"What does that mean?"

"It means that nearly everything goes to the third Mrs. Baker, I believe. The insurance, which is the only really valuable part of the estate, was changed since Mr. Baker's last marriage," he said in a tone that indicated giving unpleasant news to Grace was not without its satisfaction.

Her eyes, black and glittering with fury, found Julia and she started toward her—"You—you murderer!"

The Inspector and Frank grabbed her. She struggled blindly to free herself, mad with rage.

"You destroyed the will!" she shouted at Julia. Her face was grayish and the muscles in her jaws worked convulsively as she spat the words out. She swore at the two who held her and her oaths were expressive and forceful.

Jerry pulled Julia out of the room and pushed her into the blue leather chair in the library.

"She's doped. Forget it and have a drink." He poured her some brandy from a decanter on the glass cocktail table before the low white fireplace. The scene had sobered him.

"No thank you," she said in a far away voice.

"We'll all go out of here soon and you can go to bed and get some sleep," Jerry consoled her. "Grace is a savage. If she did Robey in, God help her lawyer!"

There were sounds in the foyer and the outside door was opened and closed several times.

Virginia came into the library, her face drawn.

"I don't like scenes. Do you want me to stay tonight, Julia?"

"Of course you mustn't Ginnie. You look tired."

Virginia stooped and pecked at her cheek.

"If Frank calls tell him I'm here in bed so he won't call me. I don't want to be disturbed. He went with Ike to take Grace home. Ugh, what a gall!"

"It was ghastly!" Julia shuddered. But her accusation had enough logic to make another count against the last Mrs. Baker.

"Partly acting, though, I'd say," Virginia's usual sang-froid began to assert itself. "Night! See you tomorrow if I'm still alive."

"Why did she want Frank to think she was here?" asked Jerry thoughtfully after she was gone.

"So she wouldn't be disturbed."

"Listen, honey, there are a dozen servants and a chaperone to keep her from being disturbed and when Uncle Dick is here, it's worse."

"Perhaps Frank expected her to stay with me," Julia offered. Then she remembered how Frank had insisted on taking her home the night before but she did not tell Jerry.

"Maybe, shall I see if the coast is clear?"

"Please."

He left the door open and she heard Venable and the doctor in the foyer.

"I must see Mrs. Baker," the doctor was saying.

"Not unless she wants to see you," the Inspector answered. There was antagonism in their tones.

"Come in, Doctor," she called.

"Can I do anything for you?" he asked kindly, almost possessively. Was he playing the same game of winning her confidence as the Inspector? Or was the tone to annoy the detective who could hear them from the foyer?

"I'm quite all right now, thank you."

"Will you have some one search the apartment before you go to bed? Some one could hide inside."

"It isn't necessary, I think. The police are supposed to keep track of every one's arrival and departure."

She allowed an overtone of doubt to invade the statement.

The doctor bade her goodnight and Jerry called to her through the door before the two left the apartment together.

Inspector Venable, his face a mask, made his adieu after assuring her she was amply protected. She reflected that he probably thought there was no need for protection for her.

As soon as the house was emptied of guests she hurried through Robey's suite and straight to her dressing table. Her fingers shook as she took the stepper from the perfume

NAZIS CLAIM MISTREATMENT

Dachau, Germany, Dec. 5 (AP)—

Two defendants charged from the witness stand Tuesday that they were mistreated by United States officers who obtained written statements used against them in the Dachau atrocity trial.

Both Germans repudiated their statements, which contained admissions of complicity in cruelties at the concentration camp.

Alfred Kramer testified he was "beaten on the head with sticks and rubber hoses by a counter-intelligence officer until I broke down." He said he could not name the officer.

Dr. Anton Witteler declared Lt. Paul C. Guth of Long Island, New York, interrogated him eight and one-half hours, forcing him to stand under the bright glare of an electric lamp until 1:30 p. m. after Witteler had gone without food the previous day.

Guth, a war crimes investigator assisting the prosecution, sat at a counsel table a few feet away as Witteler testified. Witteler said Guth called him a "swine, criminal, murderer and liar." He said Guth declared "we will march a battalion bottle and felt inside.

A bomb seemed to explode inside her head. The scrap of paper was gone!

Says Jap Emperor Saved Yank Flyers

Tokyo, Dec. 5 (AP)—Only Emperor

Hirohito's personal intercession prevented the execution of all American flyers captured in the April, 1942, bombing of Tokyo, Field Marshal Shunroku Hata, former war minister, said today.

"When I found the interrogation would end that way, I signed a statement which had been prepared in another room," Witteler said.

Guth left the courtroom briefly and returned with a small desk lamp. Witteler, on cross-examination, first insisted it was not the lamp used, but finally conceded it was "possible."

ister and chief aide de camp to the emperor, said Tuesday.

Hata, named as a suspected war criminal in General MacArthur's latest list of wanted men, said in an interview that the emperor's clemency order was issued around October, 1942, after three of the captured Doolittle airmen were executed in Shanghai.

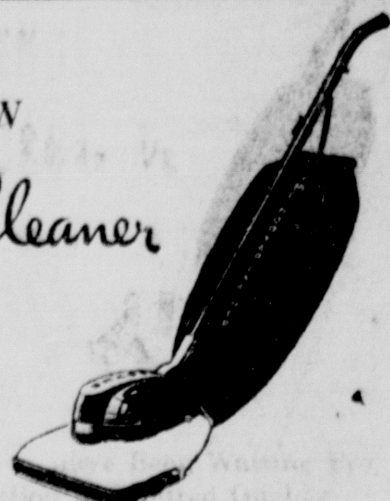

Hata was commander-in-chief of all Japanese forces in China at that time.

BILLS TO CURB LABOR RACKET BEFORE SOLONS

By JAMES MARLOW
 Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—This is an ABC explanation of the labor hot spot, the hottest spot labor has found itself on in years.

Action to curb unions or strikes seems sure to come out of Congress now. But don't bet.

The main heat is in the House. When the House gets through with a bill, the Senate has to pass on it. The Senate may tone it down.

In Congress are three main proposals which have organized labor fighting mad.

No. 1. President Truman asked Congress for power to set up a board to find the facts when, because of a labor dispute, there's the threat of a major strike.

For 30 days—while the board dug into the records and arguments of a union and a company—workers could not strike.

Public Opinion Force
 Neither the board nor the President would have power to force the union or company to comply with the board's findings. Public opinion would be the compelling force.

This kind of law would be very similar to one which, since 1926, has affected railroads, airlines and their unions. There hasn't been a major strike in those industries since 1926.

But the big three of organized labor—CIO, AFL and the United Mine workers—are solidly against the President's plan. They want no curb on their right to strike. They say that weakens unionism.

The President wants his proposal made into law by Christmas. The House labor committee is going to try to rush it through.

No. 2. The May-Arends bill. This would deprive a union—if it struck during the life of a contract which contained a no-strike clause—of its bargaining rights for one year and make it subject to a damage suit by anyone claiming to have been injured by the strike.

Aimed at Rackets

No. 3. The Hobbs bill. Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala.) fathered this one. This bill would make it a crime—punishable by 20 years in jail or a $10,000 fine—to interfere with commerce or trade by highway robbery or extortion.

Hobbs says his bill is aimed at preventing "racketeering," specifically in a case like this:

A farmer, driving produce into a city, is stopped by Labor men who force him to pay a certain sum—perhaps the day's wage of a union driver—before he can proceed into town.

AFL President William Green and R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO autoworkers, yesterday described both measures as savagely anti-labor.

Both bills may be held back to await action on President Truman's proposal.

If there is any delay, then watch for a strenuous effort in Congress to get the May-Arends and (or) the Hobbs bills up before the House for debate and vote.

Light Cruiser Joins U. S. Fleet

Philadelphia, Dec. 5 (AP)—The navy's battle fleet gets a new addition Sunday when the USS Fargo, 10,000-ton light cruiser named after the North Dakota city, is commissioned at the Philadelphia naval base.

The Fargo was launched Feb. 25 at the New York Shipbuilding corporation yards at Camden, N. J.

frond of a palm tree and landed in a tarpaulin held below.

The frightened kitty landed on all fours and jumped from the tarpaulin to the ground.

Now Don is trying to coax her from under a house.

District One, PIAA, Opposes New Teams

Norristown, Pa., Dec. 5 (AP)—District one of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association last night voted 62 to 12 against a proposed amendment which would admit parochial and private schools into the organization. This will be tabulated with the state vote at 11 other district meetings.

The meeting also objected to a proposed change in basketball rules which would make the official retain the ball after a field goal or personal foul conversion for five seconds before putting it into play. Modification was urged on grounds the rule would penalize small, fast teams.

SOLID SOUTH

Atlanta, Dec. 5 (AP)—The young Democrats of Georgia conducted a forum for high school students last night on "privileges of citizenship."

The students were encouraged to ask questions. Just ask anything, the forum leaders said.

One pert little Miss approached Mrs. Marguerite Ryan Ewing, vice president of the organization, and asked:

"Well, I'd like to know how I could go about forming a Young Republican club."

LETTERS IN ESTATE

Letters of administration on the estate of Mary C. Bream, Huntingdon township, who died November 28, were issued Tuesday at the court house to a brother, Edwin Bream Carlisle. A sister, Laura Miller, Hanover, four nephews and two nieces also survive.
